EZ Dock Hardware Connector 201040SS

Implementation Date: 08-01-06

201040 and S21140

Features and Benefits

The S21140 is being discontinued and replaced by the S21140SS. All kits that contained the S21140 will now come standard with the S21140SS. This change is being made as an improvement in quality without any additional costs. The transition to the new S21140SS in all kits will take place over the next several months as the older kits are sold out of inventory and replaced with the new kits. As a result of this change, all EZ Dock kits ending with -SSHW will become obsolete because the standard kits will have the same hardware. In addition, hand railing kits will also be standard with the SS hardware and will no longer need the SS designation. All kits containing stainless brackets, in addition to the stainless hardware connectors, will continue to be designated with the SS to symbolize an actual stainless steel kit.
